Is Our Lack of Faith the Cause of Today's Problems?

In the trials of the last decade, “how blessed are those that reject the advice of the wicked” (Tehillim/Psalms 1).

Amidst the turmoil of the last decade, author Jeff Pritchard turns the traditional blame away from the economy, healthcare, or the government and guides direction into restoring strength in our biblical foundations and Godly teachings in our society.

In a book highlighting the need for a strengthened spiritual relationship, and uncompromised holy service, Pritchard recognizes the tendency for us to walk through life holding our hearts too tightly that we “close our eyes to the world around us and focus on our hurts... We want it to stop! We want it to feel better, don't we?” (Pritchard 26).

In the years following the initial writing of T'Shuva! A Cry to America and the Nations, Pritchard saw the need for the restoration of Faith of our Founding Fathers to government, becoming a candidate for the U.S. House of Representatives representing the 4th District of Oklahoma.

Pritchard is a veteran of the first Iraq War, serving in the U.S. Army as an Intelligence Analyst. He currently works in the oilfield and resides in Oklahoma with his wife and two children.

T'Shuva! A Cry to America and the Nations (ISBN: 978-1-60264-847-0) is available in softcover from Virtualbookworm.com, Amazon.com, and Barnesandnoble.com.
